You are or are about to become a Doctor

The Communauté Université Grenoble Alpes stays in touch with its graduates via the doctors' directory, the follow-up of their professional career, the posting of job offers and opportunities, and the numerous professional networks to which it belongs.

Dissemination of doctoral dissertations

Since January 1st 2011, the Communauté Université Grenoble Alpes has switched to electronic dissertation submission, which replaces paper form submission. Dissertations can thus be disseminated on the national open platform, TEL, subject to the agreement of their author. They are also listed in the collective catalogue of French university libraries (SUDOC) and in the catalogue of the three joint documentation departments (SCD and SICD) of the Communauté Université Grenoble Alpes.

There are many advantages:

Simple and direct accessibility of the dissertation for the whole scientific community and civil society, encouraging exchanges and cooperation

High degree of visibility of research work, particularly at international level

Valuation of research work facilitating employability of doctoral graduates
